THE HEROIC DEAD.

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the purpose that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The great men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth.—LINCOLN.

Congressman Bragg was triumphed for once in the new administration. He has succeeded in removing Mr. Kutchin as collector of internal revenue of the Fond du Lac district.

Secretary Bayard will leave Washington for the west next week to deliver an oration on "Thomas Jefferson" at the State university of Missouri. Probably in this address he will try to show how near the present administration is like Thomas Jefferson in simplicity.

Mr. St. John seems to take great delight in letting loose the vials of his wrath upon the republicans in the Illinois legislature because they refused to let him lecture in representative hall. But as they became used to his opposition last fall and have just re-elected their candidate for vice president to the senate, they will probably bear up under his invectives now. As it does the republicans no hurt and pleases St. John, there is no mischief connected with his choice.

There are some touches of human nature that are particularly tender, and the following from New York shows the beautiful blending of the respect for General Grant among the Blue and the Gray in Kentucky: Colonel John Mason Brown, of Louisville, Ky., presented today to General Grant engrossed resolutions and speeches at a meeting of federal and confederate veterans held on the anniversary of the general's birthday. They are engrossed on alternate pages of blue and gray, according to the colors of the speakers, and make a beautiful and significant volume. General Grant was much affected by the demonstration.

This is the way the New York Tribune brings to public light the spirit of civil service reform of the administration: The civil service reformers must be hilarious over the way in which "offensive partisans are being turned out to give place to reformers." The latest change in this state is in the office of United States marshal for the northern district. General McDougall gives place to Walter H. Bunn, secretary of "Dan" Manning's state committee, and a very active lieutenant of the "Boss." As a politician Mr. Bunn is entitled to consideration from his party chieftain. Nothing would be thought about it if it were not for the canting hypocrisy of the men who pretend to see "reform" in appointments made to pay political debts.

People are very apt to charge some raging epidemics to the wrath of God, and have done so in numerous cases, and very unjustly. They had a fatal typhoid fever epidemic at Plymouth, in Pennsylvania, which the skill of physicians could not stay. But when an investigation was made it was shown that in this case the disease was due entirely to a defective sewerage system and the carelessness of the attendants of the man who was first taken ill. The work of the investigators seems to have been perfect and it is seldom that a more complete and satisfactory medical report has been furnished to the public. A kind Providence never scourges a clean city and never decrees a sad visitation in the way of an epidemic upon a people who use plenty of soap and water.

There will be a pretty sharp contest for the location of the school for dependent children, for which the legislature made provision last winter. Those which will submit bids for the site are as follows: Green Bay, Stevens Point, Waupaca, Grand Rapids, Phillips, New Lisbon, Ripon, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Appleton, La Crosse and Sparta. The bids, according to the advertisement which has been published, must all be in by the 24th of June. By that date, it is expected that a number of places, independent of those mentioned, will submit proposals. As soon as all the bids are in, the board will make a tour of inspection of the localities which seek to secure the school, in order that the action which will result in the selection of the site may be based on an intelligent understanding of the favored spot.

Governor Rusk has appointed Colonel G. W. Burchard, who has been for the past four years a member of the State board of supervision, as special agent to settle the claims of the state of Wisconsin against the general government for many thousands of acres of land, due the state under the swamp-land grant. The following is the substance of the law under which the appointment was made:

WHEREAS, This state has unsettled claims against the general government under the swamp land grant, and after the lapse of more than thirty-five years since the passage of the grant, it is full time that such grant was definitely settled, that the state might accurately know its rights thereunder, and that the title of individual purchasers of such lands might be perfected and quieted.

SECTION 1. The governor is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint a special agent to proceed to Washington and settle all such conflicting and unsettled claims as soon as possible.

This appointment is good one for the special reason that he possesses peculiar knowledge in regard to the question involved in the case, which was gained while acting in the capacity of private secretary to Gov. Smith. His election will be universally regarded as one eminently fit to be made.

The biennial report of the superintendent of public instruction has been published to show that the whole number of children in the state between the ages of 4 and 20 to be 528,750. The number actually enrolled at the public schools is shown to be 315,804. Of course this does not include any who are attending private and denominational schools. The number attending such schools is probably more than half the difference between the whole number in the state and the number actually reported as enrolled. The total cost of maintaining the public school system of the state is shown in the following figures:

	1883.	1884.
For support of university	$ 91,142 40	$ 97,620 48
For support of normal schools	85,039 85	81,412 45
For supp'rt of common and high schools	2,829,125 19	2,917,086 04
For instruction in charitable and benevolent institutions	13,387 97	13,907 45
For salaries of county superintendents	49,775 00	47,775 00
For postage, printing and stationery for county superintendents	8,403 00	8,786 00
For teachers' institutes	6,220 64	6,325 09
For Webster's dictionaries for first supply to school districts	798 00	1,043 00
Total	$3,086,954 00	$3,174,155 51

The school fund income appropriated in 1884 was $213,138.66 or 42 cents per capita. The appropriation for 1885 will be about the same, and after that the mill tax law will increase this to about $1.32 per capita.

Burke Polished Him Off.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—The four-round hard-glove contest in Market hall Thursday night, between Professor John S. Barnes, of this city, and Jack Burke, the Irish lad of Chicago, was decided in favor of the latter. In the first two rounds Burke punished Barnes severely, and at the end of the second had about used him up, when the police interfered. It was the general opinion that Burke would have put the professor to sleep in the third round. The receipts, $300, were given to Burke.

Faulkner Dislocates Christol's Shoulder.

CHICAGO, May 29.—A private wrestling match was given in a well-known sporting resort here Thursday night. The contestants were William Faulkner and Andre Christol. The match was best two in three, for a purse of $150. Christol won the first fall, catch-as-catch-can, and Faulkner the second, Graeco-Roman. In the third, catch-as-catch-can, Christol's shoulder was dislocated and the match was declared in favor of Faulkner.

THE MUCH-TRIED DOLPHIN.

She Stands the Fourth Test Nobly—Her Next Trip.

NEW YORK, May 29.—To John Roach's great delight his fourth attempt to show that the new dispatch boat Dolphin can run for six consecutive hours without breaking down was not a failure. The fourth trial was made Thursday. The Dolphin ran up the sound for about three hours without accident and then turned and came back to the city at full speed, making the required six hours' run. It was said by some of those on the trip that it was so devoid of incident as to be almost monotonous. The machinery worked smoothly and much better than on any of her previous trips. Whether or not the engine developed the required 2,300 horse-power and kept it up for the whole six hours will not be known until the experts have figured up the data taken during the trip. During the trial the Dolphin ran at one time at the rate of sixteen knots an hour and kept it up for nearly a half hour. Her speed varied from that to fifteen knots an hour. If the board reports that the Dolphin met contract requirements the next event in the Dolphin's career will be a trial trip at sea loaded. On this test she will be required to make only twelve knots an hour, and the cost of the trial will be borne by the government.

Deadly Epidemic in Ohio.

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, May 29.—A child of A. C. Truax, the fifteenth victim from the epidemic prevailing at Paris Roads, is dead. Mr. Truax himself is very ill. Lida Gardner, the stepdaughter of Mr. Truax, is very low and not expected to live over night. William Gardner was stricken with the disease Wednesday and is rapidly sinking. The theory now is that the first child of Kennedy Truax that took the disease contracted it by drinking from a watering trough from which horses, affected with glanders, had drank. Dr. Polk, of New York, thinks the disease is the same that scourged the mountain regions of West Virginia and Kentucky three years ago.

MUST SIGN THE SCALE,

OR THE GRASS WILL GROW ABOUT THE IRON MILLS.

A Situation Which Has All the Elements of a Disastrous Strike—The Men Determined and the Masters Firm—Shutting Down.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 29.—"The grass will grow very green about the iron mills this summer if the manufacturers do not sign the scale as it has been presented to them." It was the remark of a boiler-maker as he sat in the office of the Amalgamated association Thursday and discussed the situation. "I own a property on the south side worth worth $3,500. Before I accept the proposition of the manufacturers I will sell that property and live upon the money until it is gone. Am I just talking? I tell you that I have never seen the men more determined than they are at the present time. We have made every concession that we can stand, and you can depend upon it that a bitter fight will be waged should the manufacturers refuse to sign the scale. I speak for thousands of workers who are as fully determined on this matter as I am."

"Is there a feeling among the workers that the manufacturers will sign the scale sent out Thursday?"

"There is. The manufacturers can not afford to shut up their mills. I expect that they will hold a meeting on Saturday, and the scale will be signed. Carnegie's mill will not be closed down. They will sign; so will Morehead's. Jones & Laughlin will come into line, though they are holding back now. The Republic will sign, and so will the Union, Wayne Iron and Steel company, Clark & Co., Wilson, Walker & Co., and Dilworth, Porter & Co."

President Weihe, of the Amalgamated association, said Thursday evening: "I have really nothing new to say in regard to the situation. The scale was presented, and it rests now entirely with the manufacturers whether or not there is to be a shut-down. Before the week is out I I think the scale will be generally signed. I can give an illustration of how some of the manufacturers at least feel in regard to the matter. At one Lawrenceville mill, when we presented the scale Thursday morning, a member indirectly admitted that he was inclined to sign it at once. Of course his firm does not feel like being the first to sign, but you may be sure some member will do so and then it is only a question of a day or so until others follow the same course."

This talk, however, does not accord with the action of the manufacturers. A very large meeting was held by them in this city Thursday morning to discuss the situation, and the sentiment of those present was unanimously in favor of a shut down in preference to accepting the workmen's scale. In fact a resolution to that effect was adopted without a resisting voice. Letters and telegrams were also read from manufacturers in different sections of the country, stating that they did not intend to sign the scale. A number of the letters stated that the concessions already made by the manufacturers were too large.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 29.—All departments at the North Chicago Rolling mill at Bay View, including the nail mill will shut down immediately. This will throw out of employment between 1,300 and 1,500 men. They feel the situation keenly, but intend to abide by the orders of the Amalgamated association. How long the shutdown will continue is a question for the future.

WHISKY AT THE BOTTOM

Of the Indian Insurrection—Movements of the Redskins.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—Information has been received here that the Mescaleros will not join the San Carlos Apaches, but on the contrary have tendered Maj. Sanborn, commanding Fort Stanton, N. M., 150 recruits, should the depredating Apaches come near the garrison. It appears that the outbreak was caused by whisky. The Indians manufactured large quantities of "Tiswin," and became intoxicated. Knowing that punishment would follow this infraction of the rules, they abandoned the reservation and went on the warpath.

FORT STANTON, N. M., May 29.—Two of Geronimo's squaws, captured by the Indian police, arrived here Thursday. One of them wore five gold rings, evidently taken from victims. The squaws tore their hair and wildly lamented their fate.

SILVER CITY, N. M., May 29.—The Apaches are making bloody trails through this section. It is now thought that three or four different bands are depradating and murdering in as many sections of territory. The hostiles are thought to number about 300. Four chiefs are with them—Geronimo, Nana, Naetcha, and Chihuahua. Thursday morning the five dead bodies of a Mexican family, killed about five miles west of here, were brought in and buried.

Two couriers are missing. Three additional prospectors have been killed on the south fork of the Whitewater—one named Joe Bunting, on Magollon creek. He made a brave fight, and killed two Indians, one a chief. The fight was witnessed by Bunting's partner, who was just coming into camp. He succeed in killing two before getting away. Thursday morning George's ranch, two miles from Fort Bayard, was attacked, and an American was wounded. The Indians are heading for the Black range. They have been sighted in Stein's pass. It is believed that they will attempt to go through the pass. Should they do so two companies of cavalry in the immediate vicinity will intercept them.

Gen. Crook has telegraphed that he has enough troops.

Communists Threaten Dire Things.

PARIS, May 29.—The funeral of Victor Hugo will take place Monday morning. The Communists in their several meetings held Wednesday evening adopted resolutions declaring that it is their purpose to carry red flags in the funeral procession. The resolutions also warned the government not to interfere with the Communists in their determination to bear their flags and banners in the great procession. Sarah Bernhardt has asked permission for herself and company to join in the procession.

A Desperado's Latest Effort.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., May 29.—Intelligence has just been received that another chapter has been added to the already bloody records of the Pike county vendetta by the notorious Henry Vanover. James Roberts was riding quietly along at the head of Elkhorn creek, when he was fired upon from an ambush by Vanover, who was lying in wait. Roberts was shot in the head and killed instantly. Vanover is still at large.

The Interest To Be Paid by Drexel & Co.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Drexel & Co., bankers of this city, will pay the interest on the 7 per cent. consolidated mortgage bonds of the Reading Railroad company maturing June 1. The interest will amount to $617,000 which, with a similar advance last September, will make the total indebtedness of the company to the banking firm $1,234,000.

Great Discovery.

Mr. Wm. Thomas, of Newton, Ia., says: "My wife has been seriously affected with a cough for twenty-five years, and this spring more severely than ever before. She had used many remedies without relief, and being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery, did so, with most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved him very much, and the second bottle has absolutely cured her. She has not had so good head for thirty years."

RHEUMATISM ALWAYS CURED

CASE OF MASTER F. D. McVITTY, WHITE SWELLING, FOUR ABSCESSES AND STIFF KNEE, BEFORE AND AFTER TREATMENT.

KENTON, Ohio May 18, 1857. To all whom it may concern: I hereby certify that I was afflicted for five years with disease of the hip joint, during which time I suffered the most excruciating pain, with but very little intermission. From the joint it followed the course of the bone, destroying it to within five inches of the knee, when it discharged from half a pint to a pint of matter a day small pieces of bone coming away from time to time. I tried all the physicians I could hear of that I thought would be likely to benefit me: then I tried patent medicines, liniments and salves, and derived no benefit, but continued to lose strength. Finally, hearing of the success of Dr. S. C. Todd in the treatment of such diseases, and being strongly persuaded by E. C. McVitty, father of F. D. McVitty, to give him a trial, I placed myself under his treatment, and I am happy to say that I gradually improved, gaining in strength, the pain leaving me, the sores being entirely healed, and my limb, which was swelled to nearly double its size, assumed the natural shape and feeling with in six weeks, time. I was 57 years of age when cured. I would be pleased to answer any letters from the afflicted. HANSON ROBY.

Rheumatism Cured.

ROXBURY, Dane Co., Wis., May 4, 1885—Dr. S. Clay Todd: DEAR SIR: I thought you would like to hear from me. I have taken nearly three bottles of the medicine you sent me, I have one bottle to take. I am happy to say that I have lost all that pain and stiffness in my joints. I am in hopes that by the time I take the other bottle I will be able to say I am well. I am in hopes you can do something for my sister at New Orleans, La. She is a great sufferer from Rheumatism. With respect, I remain as ever, yours very truly, P. H. FABING.

A REMARKABLE TESTIMONIAL OF HIS SUCCESS.

From the Burlington (Iowa) Hawkeye.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, March 21, 1878—For the benefit of those who think their diseases incurable, I would like to state my case. I was afflicted with chronic rheumatism since September, 1877, suffering the most intense pain; my spine and kidneys were affected; a sharp, cutting pain in my left lung and side, as though a knife was thrust through them; cramps in the stomach, legs and feet; soreness in the stomach and vomiting everything I ate; dizziness in the head, liver complaint and chronic diarrhoea, which finally ended in dropsy; feet swelled so I could not have my boots on for nearly two months, and for some time could not get out of bed without help; for four months I had not slept over fifteen minutes at a time, my nervous system was completely broken down and I had lost all hope of ever being helped, and the physicians and their friends said I would not live through the month of March. I had been treated by the best physicians—the three principal physicians of Keokuk, one of Fort Madison, two of Galesburg, Illinois, one physician of Burlington, and the most eminent physician of St. Louis, Missouri, and had spent over four hundred dollars, all to no purpose, and I gradually grew worse all the time until January 20th, 1878, and weighed only 91 pounds when I employed Dr. S. Clay Todd, of Fort Wayne, and am happy to say from the first dose of his medicines I steadily gained in health and strength and am now able to be about and see to my business, and weigh 175 pounds.

Respectfully, HENRY LOCK.

PETER WILLIAMSON, Lake View, Dane county Wis., March 7, 1885.

From the Madisin DEMOCRAT of Feb. 14. Will you kindly allow me a little space in your columns to testify to the efficient professional services and skill of Dr. S. Clay Todd. I saw his advertisement in your paper and applied to him for treatment for my wife. She had been suffering for fifteen long years with liver complaint, kidney disease and dropsical tendencies. I have tried the best medical skill to be had, but to no purpose. Dr. Todd has been treating her since the 20th of January. She at once began to improve and is now practically a well woman. I thank God and Dr. Todd and want every suffering human being to know it. My postoffice address is Madison, Wis., and any one desiring further facts can address me.

Very Truly, WM. M. LEONARD.

Terrible Disaster at Sea—Floods in City, Plain and Canon—The Kansas Cyclone —A Wisconsin Town Fire-Swept —A Big Death Roll.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The steamer City of Rome, of the Anchor line, reached here Thursday, having on board, besides her 1,821 regular passengers, two French fishermen, the only survivors of the crew of the French fishing bark George Jeanne, which was sunk by the City of Rome in a collision on the banks of Newfoundland on May 25. The ill-fated vessel, after she was struck, sank in less than a minute, carrying down with her twenty-four men, only two of whom were saved. Capt. R. D. Munro, of the City of Rome, was too much broken up by the remembrance of the scene to give more than a brief statement. On the day of the disaster the weather was so thick that from the bow of the boat it was difficult to see 100 feet ahead. A great many icebergs were passed; between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. fifty-eight were counted, large and small. The captain asserts the bells were rung and whistles sounded continuously. At 4:30, when the fog was thickest, the men forward saw the spars and masts of a bark appear in the mist barely twenty feet away. The bark lay at anchor, and, according to the captain's story, was not ringing its bell or keeping a lookout. The signals to reverse the engines were given, but it was too late, and the steamer's iron bow cut through the George Jeanne with as little resistance as if she had been a piece of cheese. In less than a minute the bark went out of sight.

The steerage passengers who landed from the City of Rome at Castle Garden declared with one accord that the steamer was making at least fourteen knots an hour when the collision occurred. Charles Morgan, a steerage passenger, declared that the officers on the bridge were watching the passengers leaping and jumping, and were not keeping a proper lookout. The official log of the steamer states that on Monday the steamer made 408 miles. A memorial was presented to Capt. Munro, signed by the cabin passengers, praising his efforts to save the survivors.

Drowned in the Canyon.

INDIANOLA, Neb., May 29.—Tuesday evening a party of seventeen Bohemians, en route to Dundy creek, camped in Richman canyon, a half mile from the Republican river, and nine miles east of here. At dark a heavy rain set in, and about 10 o'clock a waterspout burst a short distance above, flooding the heretofore dry canyon to the depth of fifteen feet. This came down the canyon in waves. The Bohemians were asleep in their wagons. The one nearest the bed of the stream was occupied by John Macek, wife and son; the center one by John Osmer, wife and four children and two other children; the third by Joseph Havelic, wife and three children. When the flood struck the wagons Havelic was the first to arouse. He jumped up, grasped the wagon tongue, and attempted to pull the wagon out of the water. Fresh waves struck it, wresting the tongue from his grasp and carrying the wagon out into the raging flood. Osmer had already jumped from his wagon, and succeeded in getting four children to shore, but before he could return to the wagon it was carried away. The first Macek knew of the situation he was sailing down the stream. Seeing a tree just ahead, he bid his wife and son to cling to him and he would try to save them. He succeeded in clasping the tree, but the sudden stop shook off his wife and son, and they went down in the flood. Macek climbed into the tree, from which he was rescued in the morning. Havelic and Osmer finally found the residence of Simon Jennings, half a mile off, and made known what happened. Up to night but two of the eleven bodies missing had been found.

Freaks of the Frisky Cyclone.

ATCHISON, Kan., May 29.—Additional particulars of the cyclone at Goffs, on Wednesday morning, are obtained from a letter which reached here Thursday afternoon. The appearance of the storm, which approached from the southwest, was grand and awful, and the frightful roar of the whirling, lightning-edged clouds was louder than the combined noise of 100 guns. The path of the storm through the town did not exceed twenty or thirty rods in width, but within that space everything destructible is a wreck.

The injured are as follows: Mrs. Frank Mayer, badly bruised about the head; not fatally hurt. Her child, injured internally, and will probably die. George Cowvilla, a farmer living southwest of the town, was standing in front of Hawley's shop as the storm approached, and was lifted up by the whirling wind, carried a distance of thirty yards, and deposited in a door-yard. Flying timbers had broken both his legs, and when found he was insensible. His recovery is scarcely possible.

The appearance of the town after the storm had passed was desolate and forlorn beyond description. The panic-stricken citizens, many of whom had received slight injuries, emerged from cellars and "cyclone holes," into which they had plunged, and set about rescuing the wounded and recovering property, which littered the ground in every direction.

Some strange phenomena were witnessed in connection with the storm. The curb of H. G. Pickett's well was broken off close to the ground and the well itself stuffed full of chickens. A thick mist flying at an awful rate of speed seemed to precede the cyclone, while during its prevalence wind, rain, hail, thunder and lightning, blended into one awful and never-to-be-forgotten scene.

A Cloud-Burst in Southern Indiana.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 29.—A tremendous rainfall visited this city about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The center of the cloud-burst seemed to be within the territory bounded by Indiana and John streets and Main street and Garfield avenue, and the streets and pavements in that district were covered completely with water, reaching a depth of from four to six feet. Cellars were flooded and many first floors of stores and residences in the district mentioned were inundated, causing heavy damage. Street car travel was suspended. The inmates of many private residences, in their efforts to remove perishable articles to a place of safety, were compelled to wade in water waist deep. The Evansville & Terre Haute passenger depot and yards were flooded with water to the depth of six inches. Sewers were badly damaged, and wooden side and crosswalks displaced and carried off. The loss to property will not fall short of $20,000.

A telegram received from Henderson, ten miles below here, on the Kentucky side, says that about 3 o'clock in the afternoon a heavy cloud charged with electricity passed over that city. A bolt of lightning struck the bridge near pier 5, on which a squad of eight men were at work. Zach L. Moore, of Chicago, an employe of the Keystone Bridge company, with Pat Murphy, J. Fitzgerald and G. T. Wood, were shocked. Murphy and Fitzgerald slightly but Moore and Wood very severely and knocked unconscious. No hopes are entertained for their recovery. Mrs. Hannah Manion, an employe at Clegg's hotel, was prostrated at the same time by the same bolt and lies in a critical condition.

Sixteen Lives Lost.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29.—A special to The Times-Democrat from Waco, Tex., says: A heavy rainstorm prevailed in this section Wednesday night and Waco creek, a small stream which flows through the city ran out of its banks, inundating hundreds of residences. Most people deserted their homes and fled to places of safety. T. Diningholf, with his wife and three small children, remained in the house which was washed away, and the whole family were drowned. Howard Lewis, colored, his wife, sister and three children, living on a small stream east of the city, lost their lives in the same manner. To these eleven victims are to be added five others near the city. The damage to property in Waco is $80,000. The damage to crops in the county is over a quarter of a million. Rain storms have prevailed throughout north and west Texas and the damage to crops and railroads is incalculable.

Almost Ruined by Fire.

MEDFORD, Wis., May 29.—About 3:30 o'clock a. m. fire was discovered in the rear of the Exchange hotel, but it had gained such headway that twenty-six of the principal business houses were soon laid in ashes. The damages are estimated at about $200,000. The insurance is light. Six cars, two loaded with lumber, were also burned.

At 11:35 o'clock a. m. a fire-engine arrived here from Stevens Point. It is still at work extinguishing the fire in the sawdust and slab-piles.

J. K. Parishe was injured by having his face and hands burned, but not seriously. His hip was dislocated by the falling walls of Poquette's opera hall. Physicians set his hip, and he is resting easily, without anticipating any danger. Mr. Parishe lost his law library.

A Furniture Establishment Destroyed.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 29.—The large furniture warehouse of Henry Vehmeyer at the southwest corner of Second and Market streets, was set on fire about 6 o'clock Thursday evening by an explosion of a can of benzine which Henry Vehmeyer, Jr., was using to kill moths. The walls on the Market and Second streets sides were blown out. Young Vehmeyer was badly burned, but will recover. Mary Cathcart, of Palmyra, N. Y., who was passing the building at the time of the explosion, was struck by the falling walls and had her skull fractured and her right arm torn off. She was removed to the Pennsylvania hospital, where she died from the effects of her injuries. The loss by fire will amount, $100,000, which is but partially insured. Several adjoining establishments were badly damaged by smoke and water.

Destructive Rain.

VANDALIA, Ills., May 29.—One of the most destructive rains for many years fell Thursday. It began early in the morning and poured down in torrents until about 3 in the afternoon. The bridges and many of the sewers throughout the city are wrecked. It is estimated that from $4,000 to $5,000 will be necessary to put the streets in repair again.

Report That Dumont Is Captured.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—Late Wednesday night Gen. Terry received a dispatch from Fort Assiniboine announcing the capture Wednesday of Gabriel Dumont, the missing lieutenant of Louis Riel, and a companion by the name of Michael Dumais. The capture was made by Sergt. Perkins and a private on the Milk River trail, some twenty or thirty miles north of the fort. In reply to the question what disposition should be made of the prisoners, Gen. Terry telegraphed that they should be held until further orders. He is in communication with division headquarters for instructions.

Baltimore & Ohio Right of Way.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—The joint committee on railroads of the city council met Thursday afternoon to consider the ordinances granting the Baltimore & Ohio railroad the right of entrance into this city. Various petitions, favorable and otherwise to the passage of the ordinance, were read, after which Mr. Cowan, general solicitor of the Baltimore & Ohio, was granted permission to speak in behalf of that corporation. At the hour of adjournment Mr. Cowan had not finished his argument, and the committee adjourned to meet again on Friday afternoon of next week, when Mr. Cowan will conclude his argument.

Gladstone Thanks the American Press.

MONTREAL, May 29.—A newspaper man here a short time ago forwarded a clipping to Mr. Gladstone containing comments of the leading American journals on his great speech of the 27th ult. on the war credit vote. An acknowledgment has been received from the English prime minister returning thanks for the extracts, and remarking: "I much value these kind expressions from the United States, as I have always attached, and continue more and more to attach, the greatest value to sympathy and good will between the two countries."

A Missing Man Found.

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 29.—Charles F. Gay, the missing auditor of the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon railroad, who was missing since Monday, was found dead Thursday morning in the woods, a mile northwest of the city. He had a bullet-hole in his head and a revolver in his hand, and from his position it is believed that death was instantaneous. He committed suicide in a fit of insanity. When found, he had been dead two days at least. A reward of $500 was paid by the citizens for finding the body.

Sad Ending of a Westling Match.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 29.—Thursday, while Gus Williams and Herman Lonheim were engaged in a friendly wrestling match at Lanterman's Falls, near here, the latter went too near the brink of a deep ravine and fell headlong, making several revolutions to the bottom, a distance of ninety feet. He was found horribly bruised and unconscious. Medical aid is doing all possible to save his life. He tore off Williams' shirt collar in attempting to save himself.

Ten Hours a Day.

LANSING, Mich., May 29.—The legislature has passed a bill making ten hours a legal day's work. It does not apply to farm labor, but to all other kinds, and is mainly directed toward workmen in the lumber regions. The bill prohibiting the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine and butterine passed the senate.

Agreed Upon a Frontier.

LONDON, May 29.—Germany and England have agreed upon the frontier of their New Guinea possessions.

The New Orleans Exposition.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29.—The action of the cabinet relative to the exposition in refusing to approve its continuance and declining to allow the government exhibits to remain here, caused much despondency and bitterness. The money had been raised for the purpose and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. A committee of citizens will leave for Washington to endeavor to secure a reversal of the cabinet's action. If they fail an attempt will be made to hold the exposition open without the government exhibits.

LIFE IN ALASKA.

ITEMS FROM A GOVERNMENT EMPLOYE'S NOTE-BOOK.

Belief in Evil Spirits—Courtship and Marriage—Bathing the Babies—Care of the Aged—Cremation—A Good Custom.

[New York Times.]

"I haven't been in Alaska since 1876," said a former government employe who was stationed in that country for several years, "but from all I can hear the occupation of the land by increasing numbers of white people has not had the effect of changing the customs of the country, in some portions of it at least, to any great extent. The Indians still believe in evil spirits that inhabit the water, hold their slaves secretly, practice polygamy, and retain all their social and religious forms and ceremonies. They have their sorcerers, repudiate all relationship on the father's side, and live generally as they did under the rule of the Russian. There are mussels and species of fish in Alaskan waters which have strong and sometimes fatal toxic qualities if eaten, which they frequently are. Sickness always follows such indulgence, and it was no uncommon thing, when I lived in Alaska, to see an entire Kolosk village suffering from its effects. It is this tradition upon which the belief in evil spirits who live in the water and spread sickness and disease among the people is founded. They profess to hold communication with these spirits through their sorcerers, but they offer them no sacrifices and use no means to propitiate them.

"Marriage among these Indians is a peculiar institution; in fact, there is no marriage—simply the taking of wives. When a young Indian wants a wife he goes to his mother and tells her so. If she gives her consent he goes to where the lady of his heart is cooped up in her father's house, taking his next best friend with him. Through the latter he sends word to his inamorata that he is near and would wed. If she has a leaning toward the suitor she returns word to him by the friend that she is inclined to join her interests with his. He then takes presents to her and her parents, and having delivered them enters at once into the possession of his bride. There are no further ceremonies, except that a day later the couple must visit her relatives, and if she then has no complaint to make to them about her husband, they are given presents and the wedding is over. This may be repeated indefinitely, until an Indian may become as well-to-do in wives as a Mormon elder. Polygamy was practiced even by the so-called Christian tribes when I lived in the territory, and their evolution must have been rapid, from what I remember of them, if they have abandoned the practice.

"Dried salmon is the luxury of the Alaskan Indians, and the children begin to nibble it before they think of walking. The way they bring up children out there would hardly suit in this region. The mother carries her child about from the time it is born until it is able to creep, no matter where she goes. Until that time she keeps it wrapped in a sort of fur sack. The moment the young one shows a disposition to crawl she yanks the fur off of it, and then begins the building up of its constitution. This is done by giving it a souse in the sea or river every morning, and the chorus of yells that greets every village during this interesting ceremony is something terrific. The cries of the young ones are piteous, and, for fear that their maternal breasts might not be proof against these appeals for mercy, and thus fail to do their duty by their off-spring, the mothers do not perform the bathing rite themselves, but delegate some brother or sister to do the dousing. These conscientious aunts and uncles vary the switch with the bath, in vain attempts to make the one overawe the noisy results of the other.

"There is one thing noticeable among these half civilized tribes, and is creditable withal. Their old disabled members are carefully attended to, and orphans become a common charge and fare the same as the most favored children with living parents. These Indians are original cremationists. Their dead are burned as soon as death ensues; their ashes are interred on the spot, and a rude monument erected over them. They have crude ideas of immortality, believing that a man has a spirit that lives forever, but they know nothing of future rewards or punishments. Their heaven is a place where the spirits of birds congregate in one place—the common people by themselves, and slaves, if there are any, have still another dwelling place, unless a chief's slave should die with him, and then his spirit will be in eternal attendance on his master. It was formally the universal custom to kill the slave when the master died to insure the latter's spirit proper attendance. That custom was abolished by the Russian government, but it was still kept up in isolated places, and cases where it has been followed were well known as late as 1870.

"Some of the Indian tribes, notably the Kanaitza, traveling from place to place hunting or fishing, have the very excellent habit of leaving behind them when they break camp a quantity of kindling material at each fire place for the use of the next travelers who come along, and who may possibly not be oversupplied with this very necessary item in their outfit. This kindling consists of some pitch pine and some dry moss and sticks all wrapped up in a curl of birch bark. The traveler who uses this and does not leave some for the next one who comes along, is sadly deficient in the etiquette of Alaskan travel."

The Duty of State Legislatures.

Legislation in every state should regulate the sale and use of the many poisons resorted to by women in their desperation to obtain a beautiful complexion. There exists in Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic every requisite to accomplish the object without injuring health or endangering life.

PARTISAN OFFICIALS.

ALLEGED ACTION OF THE SENATE ON THE SUBJECT.

A Copiah County Man Asked to Step Down—Latest List of Lucky Aspirants—Notes of Interest from the National Capital.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—The Critic publishes, with a sensational display of italics and capitals, the following resolutions, which it says it is credibly informed were adopted last March at a caucus of Republican senators:

1. That in case of the removal of any efficient Republican public officer on the alleged ground of offensive partisanship, and the nomination of a Democratic partisan in his place, such nomination will not be confirmed.

2. That in case any Democratic partisan causes the removal of an efficient Republican and receives as his reward for causing such removal the nomination as successor to the decapitated official, such nomination will not be confirmed.

Two or three Republican senators who were asked about these resolutions refused to make any statement, but the facts so far as they can be got at by circumstantial evidence are that formal resolutions like the preceding were never adopted, but that the substance of the alleged resolutions expresses the sentiment of most if not all the Republican senators. The substance of the resolutions is that if a Democrat who has been active in politics is nominated to succeed a Republican who is removed for no reason except his participation in politics, the nomination will not be confirmed. This expresses the sentiment of pretty much all the Republicans in the senate.

What Might Have Been for Mosby.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—A private letter received in this city from Consul John S. Mosby, at Hong Kong, says that at the commencement of the recent troubles between China and France he was offered the command of the Chinese army with the privilege of employing, as officers, 300 ex-confederates. After stating that he had declined the proposition, Col. Mosby adds:

I could not be a mere mercenary soldier of fortune. I could not fight for money or from anything less than patriotic motives. If it had been made public during the contest that China had made this offer to me it would have discredited her and been regarded as a confession of weakness. As they had paid me this high compliment, which I could not help, I would not do anything to injure them. There was certainly millions in it. I might have played the part of Tamerlane or Genghis Khan, or founded a greater empire than that of the moguls.

Bulldozers Needn't Apply.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—Postmaster General Vilas has requested the resignation of J. L. Meade, recently appointed postmaster at Hazelhurst, Copiah county, Miss. Mr. Meade was appointed upon the recommendation of Congressman Barksdale, representing the congressional district of which Copiah county forms a part. Mr. Meade, it is alleged, was concerned in what are known as the "Copiah outrages," and was implicated in the murder of Postmaster Matthews, a Republican, about two years ago. It is stated at the postoffice department that the appointment was made without the full knowledge of all these facts. Hence the request for his resignation.

If There's To Be a Sweep.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—There is a report that the railway postal clerks in the northwest who are confident that they will not be permanently retained in the service contemplate resigning in a body. There could, of course, be no greater calamity to the postal service than such an action. It would cause inextricable confusion, and it is difficult to see how the department could extricate itself from the trouble with inexperienced clerks. The report, so far as it has been possible to learn, is either unfounded or premature.

Generous But a Lunatic.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—An old soldier, Ben Snyder, who was reported to have surprised the commissioner of pensions several days ago by renouncing his pension of $72 per month because he had regained his health, now turns out to be an insane man. He had been granted a pension because of insanity resulting from hardships and wounds. His pension consequently will not be taken from him, but it will probably be reduced, as he is now able to go about alone and is not totally disabled.

Alleged Violation of Civil Service Rules.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—The appointment of Robert Hunter, of Winchester, Va., as chief of the division of accounts in the general land office, is spoken of here as a violation of the civil service law. It is claimed that the position is that of a fourth-class clerk, designated by the secretary of the interior to perform the duties of chief of a division, a position which the law making appropriations for the clerical force of the land office does not mention.

Late Appointments to Office.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—Thursday the president made the following appointments: Postmasters—William Steiner, Oak Park, Ills.; Andrew Barlers, Sparta, Ills.; Enoch A. McLeod, Palmyra, Mo.; Sandford L. Sturtevant, Fullerton, Neb.; Clement Philbrick, Halstead, Neb.; William M. Martin, Muscogee, I. T.; R. E. Laurenson, Junction City, Kan. Collectors of internal revenue—Owen A. Wells, Third district of Wisconsin; John B. Malony, Third district of Michigan.

Don't Think It Expedient.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—There was a full attendance of the cabinet at the meeting Thursday. The question of authorizing a continuance of the World's exposition at New Orleans was again considered. The result is shown in the following telegram, sent by the president to Senator Gibson:

The question of reopening the exposition has been considered by the cabinet, and they are unanimously of opinion that there is no warrant of law for it, and that it would be inexpedient on other grounds.

Spoke for Blaine and Logan.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—Mr. William G. Webster, of Illinois, who was dismissed from the fourth auditor's office of the treasury department a few days ago, says that Secretary Manning informed him that it was done because he electioneered and made speeches for Blaine and Logan in Illinois during the campaign. Mr. Webster was one of the first appointees in the department under the civil-service law.

Paper for the Treasury.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—The treasury commission on distinctive paper submitted their report to Secretary Manning late Thursday afternoon. The committee are unanimously in favor of dispensing with the distributed silk fibre in the paper.

A Looked-for Appointment.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 29.—It is stated upon authority of prominent Pennsylvania Democrats, that ex-Mayor Fox, of Philadelphia, will, in a few days, be appointed director of the mint at that city.

A Disabling Disease.

No disease which does not confine a man to his bed so completely unfits him for business as dyspepsia. When the stomach is foul, the brain is always muddy and confused, and as the cares and anxieties of life are a sufficient burden for the organs of thought to bear, without being tormented by the miseries born of indigestion, it is highly desirable for the brain's sake, as well as for the sake of every other portion of the system that the disordered stomach should be restored with the utmost dispatch to a healthy, vigorous condition. This object can always be accomplished by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and best of vegetable specifics, which evacuates the morbid humors through the bowels, rouses and tones the torpid stomach and regulates the liver, imparts firmness to the nerves and cleans the sensorium of its mental cobweb. Persons subject to attacks of indigestion, billious headache, irregularity of the bowels, sickness of the stomach, or "the blues," should take the bitters once or twice a day throughout the present season.

Prentice & Evenson will refund the price paid if Acker's Blood Elixir does not relieve any skin or blood disorder. A new, but thoroughly tested discovery.

A Chain of Lightships.

[Exchange.]

The Scientific American approves of the proposal to establish a chain of lightships across the Atlantic. It considers the general idea good, and to its practicability it states that the experience with light-hips proves that a vessel properly constructed may be made to ride out the fiercest storms at anchor, save upon rare occasions, and that the light steel cables of recent construction have been successfully used to anchor ships in the deepest water "off soundings."

Black Birch Wood.

[New York Times.]

Black birch wood is prized in Europe for fine cabinet work. It seems, however, that there is a strong prejudice against black birch among architects in this country, although it is cheap, beautiful, and pretty durable. Carpenters find a difficulty in introducing it in finishing interiors of houses. Soon, however, like many another, of our long despised though valuable native woods, it will win its way to a very high place in popular estimation.

Jay Gould's Evenings.

[Philadelphia Times.]

Jay Gould spends his evenings at home, usually in reading. Ordinarily he retires at 10, rises at 6 o'clock in the summer and 7 in winter. Until recently he was indifferent as to his diet, to the detriment of his health, but under the advice of physicians he is now more careful and frequently consults a French cook he has engaged.

Precept vs. Practice.

[Texas Siftings.]

A literary lady, who writes for the magazine, met a friend on the streets of Galveston.

"You seem to be in high spirits. Heard some good news? Going to get married?" asked the friend.

"Oh, no, its better than that. I've just got a letter from the editor of The Ladies' Magazine inclosing a check for $50 in payment of my article on economy in dress, and I am going right now to buy me a new brocaded silk velvet dress."

Apples and Oranges.

[Cor. New York Journal of Commerce.]

The idea that fortunes are to be made in Florida without sweat of the brow is the fiction of land speculators. An orange grove in Florida is not worth a cent more than an apple orchard in New England until its owner has put into it years of hard work, much money, and much impatient waiting. He thinks it could be demonstrated that a good apple orchard pays a larger interest than the best orange grove in Florida.

An Invulnerable Ointment.

[Chicago Herald.]

An armor for those who fear assaults from vitrol throwers has been invented by a French chemist. It is in the form of a collodian ointment, which forms an invulnerable glazing when spread over the face.

A Week's Work for Nothing.

[Chicago Herald.]

The employes of a large iron manufacturing firm at Tinsley, near Sheffield, England, recently offered to work a week for nothing in order that the firm might recover from its financial embarrassment.

—There was a very good audience at the rink last night, the attraction being the two bicyclists, Friedberg and Lescher. The performance was one of great merit, the double riding especially being the finest ever seen in the city, and the ease with which they went through the most difficult feats, drew storms of applause from the spectators. While the single wheel acts were hardly equal to those of Newton, yet when the two rode on one machine, the tricks performed would have been pronounced impossible by any one who had never seen them All were well pleased with the performance and there will undoubtedly be a good attendance Saturday night on their return trip.

—The ceremony which made Mr. Charles Eller and Miss Lydia Schaffner man and wife, took place last evening at the residence of Rev. Dr. Hodge, on North Jackson street. Mr. Eller is foreman of Washington engine company No. 1, and has many friends in this city, all of whom unite in wishing him all the joy there is in this life. As it is rather early in the season for Niagara Falls, the wedding trip was postponed until a more favorable time, and the young couple at once began house keeping. Their residence will be on Mineral Point avenue, where Mr. Eller has bought a house, which he immediately took possession of at the close of the marriage ceremony. Charley responded to the fire alarm this morning at half-past one o'clock, and was one of the first to put in an appearance and did not appear as a newly married man, but as an old veteran. Good health and a full share of happiness is the wish of all to Mr. and Mrs. Eller.

The many friends of Col. N. Smith will be pleased to learn that good fortune has come to him in the way of an appointment by Governor Rusk, as a member of the state board of supervision. This appointment, coming as it does, unasked for, or unsolicited, is as much a surprise to Col. Smith as it will be to the readers of the Gazette.

The position is an important one, and the choice the governor has made is a compliment to Col. Smith, which denotes that his character and true worth are appreciated beyond the limits of the city which has many times pronounced the verdict of "well done" to his work. For the past eleven years Col. Smith has been connected with the editorial staff of the Gazette. In January, 1878, he assumed the editorial management of the paper, and the success which has attended it during the past seven years, is largely due to his influence, and tireless labor. Occupying, as he does to-day, a prominent place in the foremost rank of Wisconsin journalists, as the result of constant and close application, he will be enabled to enter upon his new work with a preparation which comes from a broad experience with public men, and measures, and which qualifies him to efficiently serve the state in the new responsibilities surrounding his appointment.

That Governor Rusk has made a wise choice, will be the judgment of every man who is acquainted with the recipient and this sentiment will be most heartily endorsed by the little group of friends, who have worked with him, and who by close association have learned to appreciate the many kindly and thoughtful attentions which add so largely to the pleasure of business life and which denote the development of a well rounded character.

Col. Smith's commission was signed yesterday. He will retain his office as president of the Gazette Printing Co., and will still control the editorial management of the paper.

This announcement will be read with pleasure by the many readers of the Gazette who have learned to prize the product of his pen and brain as it has come to them six evenings in the week for so many years.

The Guards.

A special meeting of the Janesville Guards was held at their armory last night, most of the members being present. Among other official business, the resignation of Capt. J. B. Doe, Jr.; 1st Lieutenent, M. A. Newman, and 2nd Lieutenent, Geo. Scarchiff, Jr. were received, considered, and accepted, the resignation to take effect immediately.

The officers elected to fill the vacancies were:

M. A. Newman—Captain.
J. B. Doe, Jr.—1st Lieutenent.
Geo. Scarchiff, Jr.—2nd Lieutenent.

The best of feeling existed between all, Captain Newman saying in his speech of acceptance that he accepted the position, rather unwillingly, and that whenever the company saw a person whom they thought better fitted to command, he wanted no hesitancy concerning the change, but would drop out at once.

The transfers were made with the idea of strengthening the company and there is no doubt that it will prove to have that effect, for Captain Newman has a reputation as drill master second to none in the state and his success as a disciplinarian is too well known to need mention.

A DISASTROUS FIRE,

Destroying Six Frame Buildings on West Milwaukee Street.

The Loss Estimated at $6,000. Partially Covered by Insurance.

A Long and Tiresome Struggle Between the Firemen and the Flames.

A False Alarm in the Early Part of the Night.

At 1:45 o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sounded on the west side bell and was quickly responded to by the entire fire department. The alarm proved to be false, and was caused by a little misunderstanding between a person in Carter's livery stable, who called up the west side engine house by telephone, and one of the men sleeping in the engine house.

The second alarm was struck on the same bell at 1:45 o'clock this morning, and proved to be genuine. At that hour Night Officer Ed Smith, of the west side, reached the engine house and aroused the sleeping inmates, and the bell pealed forth its dreadful notes of warning, at the same time West Milwaukee street in the neighborhood of the Grand hotel, was brilliantly illuminated by the flames, indicating to the firemen and citizens that an extensive fire was in progress in that locality. The entire fire department was on duty in a few minutes, but the flames had gained such headway before the alarm was given that it was evident to those arriving at the fire at the time the department got to work, that a greater part of the wooden row was doomed to destruction, and those in charge of the department went to work with a determination to stop the fire from spreading further, and by all means to save the Grand Hotel. In this effort they were successful, and the fire was not allowed to take hold of any but the buildings in which it had entered before the arrival of the department. The buildings were all old wooden structures, and were an easy prey to the flames.

Evidently the fire originated in the feed store of J. R. Bleasdale, as that building was mostly consumed when the alarm was given. The two buildings on the east and the three on the west of the Bleasdale building were all on fire in the rear and in the center and rapidly approaching the fronts. It was no easy task for the firemen to commence the battle when the flames had gained such an advantage. They went at it, however, with a will and a determination to conquer, and at at a quarter to five o'clock this morning the fire was considered "out," and the engines taken up and sent home, with a loss of only the buildings indicated above, All things considered, we think the firemen did well.

The losses, so far as we are able to give them, are as follows:

Thomas Mackin, building on corner of Milwaukee and Jackon streets, occupied as a saloon and residence, totally destroyed. On this property there was an insurance of $500 on the building, $100 on bar and fixtures, and $300 on house furniture and clothing, with L. B. Kinney in the California, and the German, of Peoria; S. Strauss.

J. R. Bleasdale, feed store, total loss of building and stock; loss not stated—probably $1,200; $900 insurance on the building with S. Strauss.

Thomas Mackin, third building from the corner; total loss; insured for $400 with S. Strauss. This building was occupied by C. Goby, barber, who could not be found. His loss will probably reach two or three hundred dollars. Mr. Mackin's loss will be in the neighborhood of $2,000 in all.

The fourth building was owned by Hon. Hiram Merrill; was totally destroyed and insured for $700 in the Citizens, of Pittsburg, and Trans-Atlantic of New York, with L. B. Kinney. This building was occupied by J. G. Alden, grocer, who estimates his loss at $2,000, insured—$900 in the Pennsylvania, Dimock & Hayner; $300 in the Phoenix, of Brooklin, with Dutton & Ripley; $100 in the Mechanics, of Milwaukee, L. B. Kinney. The fifth and sixth buildings were owned by Andrew Palmer, who had no insurance and his loss is estimated at $800; these buildings were occupied respectively by Si. Kent, restaurant, loss nominal—insured with S. Strauss. Henry Grove, shoemaker, damage nominal by removal of stock. The residence of Wm. Hemming on Jackson street, was damaged one or two hundred dollars by fire and water.

OBITUARY.

A. WEBSTER BALDWIN.

Mr. A. W. Baldwin died at his home in the third ward at six o'clock this morning, of a cancerous affection of the stomach. The deceased had been confined to his home since the fifth day of last December. His death was therefore not wholly unexpected by those who were fully acquainted with his condition, but was received with profound sorrow by the people of this county, who held him in the highest esteem.

He was born on the 3d of December, 1828, in Otselic, Chenango county, New York, and was the only child of Lewis Gassott and Nancy (Colt) Baldwin, and was descended from English ancestors who settled in New England before the revolution. His grandfather, Levi Baldwin, participated in the struggle for independence in his native state, Vermont His father was a very industrious and intelligent man, scrupulously honest and exact in all his dealings. This line of the Baldwin family has produced a number of distinguished Baptist ministers and other professional men who are scattered over the eastern and middle states. The family is also noted for great longevity, many of its members attaining to great age. The Rev. Levi Baldwin, an uncle of our subject, died a few years since in Pennsylvania, past the age of ninety years. The name of Baldwin ranks with the proudest in the Green Mountain state.

His mother was the daughter of Amos Colt, of New York, a relative of the manufacturer of the celebrated Colt's revolvers. His maternal grandmother was a Webster, a branch of the family to which the celebrated Daniel Webster belonged. From this ancestor he inherits his middle name.

He was raised in his native state, where he attended the district schools during a portion of each year, spending his summers in farm labor, thus acquiring a taste and fondness for agricultural pursuits which has clung to him through life.

In 1844, at the age of fifteen, he removed to Wisconsin with his parents and settled at Milton, where his father carried on the business of a mechanic, which he has since pursued at times. He entered the Milton academy at its opening in 1844, under the tutelage of Rev. B. C. Church, afterward under that of Rev. S. S. Bicknell, and remained under the care of this institution some four years, teaching junior classes a part of the time during the last two years in mathematics and the Latin language. After passing through the full course of study of the institution and receiving a diploma, he taught district schools in the same neighborhood for three years, and at the same time read law privately under the direction of the late Chief Justice Whiton, spending one summer in the office of Judge Noggle, of Janesville, and was admitted to the bar in June, 1850. He afterward opened an office in Milton, where he practiced his profession for five years with very flattering success. His preferences, however, were for agricultural pursuits, for which in early life he had acquired an unconquerable fondness, and accordingly in 1861 he purchased a very desirable farm in the neighborhood of Milton Junction and has since devoted himself mainly to husbandry.

In 1863 Mr. Baldwin was elected to the position of clerk of the court, an office he held uninterruptedly from that year to the time of his death. He was a man universally esteemed, and in all the public positions he has filled his conduct was far above reproach or criticism. Before he was elected clerk of the court, he was constantly called upon to fill local positions of trust, and so deep was the confidence in his integrity by his fellow townsmen that in all cases these positions came without his seeking.

He was a distinguished member of the Masonic order, having filled all the positions in the "blue" lodge, the "chapter," and the "commandery;" and was "past-master," "past-high-priest" and "past-commander of the commandery. He was held in the highest esteem by the Masonic fraternity of the state. He was also a prominent member of the Temple of Honor, and had filled all the important offices in that order.

He was married October 15th, 1856, to Miss Marcie, daughter of Holmes Hammond, formerly a farmer of considerable standing in Vermont, now a resident of Clinton, this county. They had three children, one of whom died in infancy, and two survive—Carrie May and Emma E.,—with the mother to mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and a kind and loving father.

The untimely death of Mr. Baldwin is most deeply regretted by the people of Rock county, and more especially by the citizens of Janesville, who have been most intimately acquainted with him and had learned to love and honor him for his manly integrity and high social qualities. In the hour of their supreme affliction his family have the deep sympathy of the community.

The funeral takes place next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the house.

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Court convened at 8:30 a. m.

Mr. B. B. Eldredge addressed the court as follows:

May it please this court:—At the request of some members of the bar, and in consequence of the sad occurrence which has happened since the recess of this court, and the painful duty which I take upon myself, I now announce that at twenty minutes before six this morning the clerk of this court died, and I consider it highly proper in view of the standing and position of the deceased, to move that this court now take a recess until Monday, that we may properly make preparations for attending the funeral of the deceased, and also to show our respect and appreciation of his standing.

The court, in granting the motion spoke as follows: The court hears this announcement with profound sorrow. I have known A. W. Baldwin, the clerk of the court, for more than 25 years; and in every walk of life, in every duty he has been called upon to perform, he has ever shown himself upright, honorable and just. He has been the clerk of the court for many years; and it is no disparagement to the clerk of any other court in the state of Wisconsin to say that A. W. Baldwin was equal to the best. He has gone from among us; and although his death was not wholly unexpected by the court, yet it falls upon all with a heavy weight of sorrow. He will move among us no more. The motion which Mr. Eldridge, one of the oldest members of this bar, has moved that the court take a recess, I think is one highly proper to be made when one who is so upright and honorable, a member of the bar as well as an officer of the court, falls out of the ranks of the living, it is eminently proper that we should take note of it by an adjournment of the court. The court will therefore stand adjourned until Monday morning, next at 9 o'clock.

Mr. A. A. Jackson: As president of the Rock County Bar Association, I desire to give notice to the members of the bar, that the association will hold a meeting at the office of Messrs. Sale & Pierce, at 9 o'clock to-morrow (Saturday) morning, to take such action as they may deem fit in reference to the decease of Mr. Baldwin.

Bar Association Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Rock county bar association at the office of Sale & Pierce, on Saturday, May 30th, at nine o'clock in the forenoon. All members of the association and all members of the Rock county bar are requested to be present.

A. A. JACKSON.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 53 degrees above zero. Rain, with north wind. At 1 o'clock p. m. the register was 59 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north east wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 43 and 70 degrees above zero.

Now Ready.

One of the most marked of the literary tendencies of the day is the revival of interest in publications relating to the civil war. The war is now sufficiently remote not only for an immense gain in perspective to the historical student, but we are far enough from its passions and anxieties to invest everything connected with the great struggle with a new interest for the participants, and make them glad to live over again the emotions and experiences of those heroic days. In response to an often expressed public demand, Messrs Jansen, McClurg & Co., Chicago, have undertaken the publication of a volume of the war poems of Mrs. Kate Brownlee Sherwood, of Ohio, a writer known throughout the union for the strength and fervor of her patriotic lyrics; and the book will be published early in May, with the title, "Camp-Fire, Memorial Day, and Other Poems;" the latter caption covering a number of sweet and tender lyrics, which give a pleasant relief to the stirring measures of the poems of the war. Price, $1.00; full gilt, $1.50.
